What a grand party it was! The Dutch Burgher Union of Ceylon celebrated 100 years on its Founder's Day, the 22nd October 2008.

For the special occasion, the grand old building was bathed in lights making it look truly ethereal, the garden all around was festooned with white fairy lights, twinkling on all the trees and hedges, and the building itself which had been given a complete facelift in gleaming white, had new black canopies over all the windows with the words "Dutch Burgher Union – Established 1908" in white on them.

Marquees were erected in the garden to accommodate the guests and even the slight drizzles of rain intermittently did nothing to dampen the spirits of everyone attending. Sri Lanka's leading jazz musicians played great music throughout the night and several members and their partners took to the dance floor.

The President, Nigel Austin, who chaired the organizing committee, spared nothing to ensure that everyone present had an evening they would remember for a long time, a celebration fit for the Centenary of such a great old institution. Her Excellency Leoni Cuelenaere, the Dutch Ambassador, also graced the occasion with her husband Scott Russell, and had a great time dancing the night away!

A very dramatic and spectacular Audio/Visual presentation, created by David Colin-Thome, held everyone spell bound, as it detailed the history of the Union and recorded the names of some of the great Burghers who made their mark in their various fields, such as Engineering, Law, Sport, Entertainment, Education, Art, etc. I for one was moved to tears with emotion and pride at being a part of this outstanding community of ours.

Around 300 DBU members and spouses attended, all very elegantly attired. A special souvenir was printed to mark the occasion and was handed out to all members, along with a complimentary First Day Cover. The party ended at 10.30 p.m. but the 'after-party' continued upstairs in the popular Members Bar until the wee hours of the next day.

On the morning of the same day, a ceremony was held in the DBU hall for the issue of a special postage stamp and First Day Cover to commemorate the event. The Hon. Minister of Posts and Telecommunications, Mahinda Wijesekara, was the Chief Guest, and the Dutch Ambassador was the Guest of Honour. The Minister was given a rousing round of applause for his heartfelt speech which also expressed regret at the Burghers leaving the country in large numbers, particularly in the 1950s. Walking around the building, the Hon. Minister also expressed his interest in becoming a member of the DBU.

The Centenary celebrations will continue on till the end of the year, with many more events being planned, especially with the Christmas season once more upon us.

The ladies of St Nikolaas Home were treated to a "Family Day" – a party to which they could invite family members to celebrate the DBU Centenary along with them. Games and music kept everyone happy.

Celebrating a hundred years, the DBU is looking stronger than ever, vibrant with activities and a fast growing membership. It is imperative that all of us do our best to keep it going for the next 100 years or more, and for this we all need to bring in more members, especially the youth of our community, who have so much to be proud of being a part of this outstanding Union which has stood the test of time.

It is heartening to learn that a young Burgher, Graham Dirckze along with Kyle Joustra (both in Australia), has started a Dutch Burgher Union group on the very popular social network 'Facebook'. The group now has over 620 members, Burghers from all over the world! The site features pictures and news from the DBU and Burghers worldwide, and is creating immense interest in the Union among mainly the younger generation of Burghers most of whom were born overseas or moved there.

This issue of your Bulletin (E-mail version) contains several pictures of the events described above, along with the speeches made by the President Nigel Austin and Minister Mahinda Wijesekara.

A reminder to those of you who have not given the office your email addresses – please do, as the e-bulletin contains so much more material by way of pictures and graphics all in brilliant colour. Just call up Etienne and give her your details and we will see that you get the E-bulletin.

Speeches from the ceremony to issue a revenue stamp and First Day Cover to commemorate the centenary of the Dutch Burgher Union of Ceylon

Excerpts from speech by Hon. Mahinda Wijesekara – Minister of Posts and Telecommunications

Chief Guest Hon. Mahinda Wijesekara & Guest of Honour H.E. Mrs Leoni Cuelenaere, Ambassador of The Netherlands

This is a very special, historic and memorable day for all of you Dutch Burgher Union Members because you are today celebrating "100 Years". We are gathered here this morning in your wonderful Building for the purpose of issuing a stamp worth Rs 5 from the Philatelic Bureau of Sri Lanka Posts.

I am unfortunately unable to be here beyond the first session as I would have liked to have made a longer speech on a special occasion such as this. However, I am required to be in Parliament on an important matter and ask you to please excuse me very shortly.

Even though I am unable to spend much time with you today, I have done my duty. Your President Mr. Nigel Austin and Ms. Nimalka Morahela who was handling this matter for you, came to my residence a few months back and requested the issuing of this commemorative stamp and First Day Cover to mark "100 Years" of the Dutch Burgher Union.

I immediately decided to issue this stamp. However, there were some subsequent obstacles even though I as Minister had requested it. When I became aware of this, I immediately went to the Ministry and got the Philatelic Bureau, the Post Master General and Mr. Nigel Austin together and we decided that we must do it because we know that you are our colonial partners, with the Dutch having arrived in Sri Lanka a little over 400 years earlier.

Being a Lawyer, I studied Roman Dutch law. I live in Matara inside the old Dutch Fort. I invite all of you to come to my house which is an old Dutch built house which I have renovated. Please pardon me for leaving without delivering a proper speech but I have done my part and I wish the Dutch Burgher Union all success as you celebrate "100 Years". Thank you very much.

Speech by H.E. Mrs Leoni Cuelenaere, Ambassador of The Netherlands

Good morning. Honourable Minister Mahinda Wijesekera, Mr Nigel Austin, President of the Dutch Burger Union, distinguished guests, Members of the DBU.

Dear friends, let me start by saying that I am delighted to participate on a memorable occasion which comes only once in a 100 Years. As once in a 100 years is not that often it will be a "once in a lifetime experience" today for all of us!

As you all know, The Netherlands has a long standing relationship with Sri Lanka, which stretches back as far as the early sixteen hundreds when the first Dutch ships that visited Ceylon anchored off the port of Batticaloa.

Throughout the centuries, the relationship between our two countries has developed into one of cordiality and mutual assistance. As in the past, culture today is also still highly relevant for both our countries. In the recent past cultural projects were implemented to enrich the cultural and tourist attraction of the major heritage sites in the Southern region of Sri Lanka.

First allow me to go back in time very briefly, as I consider today's event as an opportunity to learn more about the Dutch Burgher Union and its members. It seems that in the early days of the Dutch period the Burgher community never exceeded 500 in number and it was mainly composed of sailors, clerks, tavern-keepers and discharged soldiers. Although there aren't demographic studies available on the Burgher community in Ceylon, during the Dutch period it appeared that the growth of the community was constant. Nowadays the Burghers are a minority group with its highest concentration in Colombo, but a minority with great historic impact on the socio-economic and political life of this country.

During the British times the Burghers were mainly employed in the Colonial administration as clerks and lawyers and became a privileged class on the island. Under the British it seems that the Dutch Burghers also quickly abandoned the use of the Dutch language and adopted English as their own language.

It even got worse! And please correct me if I am wrong – but I was told that by 1860, the use of Dutch among the Dutch Burghers even disappeared and in 1908, only a few could make any pretence to having knowledge of the Dutch language! Fortunately at present there are still many Sinhala words of Dutch origin.

Burgher culture appeared to be a rich mixture of east and west. Thanks to a small, but steady influx of newcomers from Europe who mixed with the families which had settled on the island for generations, the Burgher community was able to retain its open character and the heterogeneous cultural traditions.

According to the information I have gathered the “Dutch Burgher Union” or the “Hollandsche Burgher Vereeniging van Ceylon” was established in 1908 with the objective of promoting the moral and social well-being of the Dutch Burgher community in Sri Lanka. Its founding member, the late Mr. Richard Gerald Anthonisz, had at that time a vision to bring the Dutch Burghers together and make them conscious of being an important community in Sri Lanka.

By selecting the birthday of late Mr. Anthonisz to celebrate this centennial anniversary seems to me very appropriate, as well as the gratitude shown by the present generation of the Burgher community by naming it “Founder’s Day”.

You have rightly mentioned, in one of the documents presented to me earlier, the names of Dr. R.L. Spittle and Dr. R.L. Brohier as some of the distinguished inhabitants of Sri Lanka whose contributions made were of great importance.

It is heartening to note that as a gathering of significant socio-historic importance to this country, the Burgher community has continued for 100 years to discharge their services to its fellow members in particular and to Sri Lanka in general. Also the DBU has continued to make their contributions despite the political and social changes that took place during the past century.

As I understood, nowadays the beautiful and characteristic building of the DBU is also being used for various activities related to the Dutch Association in Sri Lanka as well as the Netherlands Embassy.

I hope that in the future, as it did in the past, this building will help to bring about more social intercourse among the members of the community.

Having said this, Honourable Minister, I am pleased to see that your Ministry, the DBU and also the Philatelic Bureau are giving due recognition to the importance of celebrating the jubilee year with a jubilee stamp. In many countries it is not that easy to get a special commemorative stamp and a First Day cover to mark an event of national importance.

I personally believe that the DBU is very fortunate to have this rare opportunity and at the same time I believe that the DBU really deserves to get it.

As I am aware of the recent developments, this is not the first occasion that the Ministry of Posts and Communications has shown a similar gesture in relation to the Dutch and their descendents. My embassy records reveal that your Ministry issued a special stamp and a first day cover in 2002 to mark the 400 years of relationship and cooperation between Sri Lanka and the Netherlands. That event was graced by President Chandrika Bandaranaike Kumaratunga and the Ambassador of the Netherlands, Mrs Susan Blankhart.

So Honourable Minister, the decision you have taken to issue a special stamp and a first day cover to mark the Centenary Celebrations of the DBU is most honourable.

The event will give exposure to the DBU as well, and is therefore a fantastic opportunity to draw attention to the activities of the Dutch Burgher Union. Please allow me to express my thanks to the DBU for working so hard to achieve their objectives and thank you all once again for giving me an opportunity to make this address.

I am looking forward to meeting you all again tonight. Thank you!

President's Speech

Made at the members evening celebration event to commemorate the centenary of the Dutch Burgher Union of Ceylon

Your Excellency Mrs. Leoni Cueleneare, Ambassador for the Netherlands, past Presidents, Honorary Life members, fellow members of the DBU, ladies and gentlemen.

On behalf of the General Committee, let me extend a very warm welcome to you all to this special celebration of our centenary.

Reaching 100 years is indeed a landmark; one of which our Founder Mr. R G Anthonisz and the other pioneers of the DBU would indeed be proud.

The weather gods have been kind to us and we are here to enjoy an evening of fellowship and entertainment. I will, therefore, attempt to be brief in terms of the formality that must necessarily be a part of an event of such significance.

In the past few years, the DBU has seen a huge transformation. The DBU is alive again! The social activities and club nights are greatly looked forward to by our members. All this is the result of the driving force of one person who made that difference. I would ask you all fellow members, ladies and gentlemen to join with me in acknowledging the huge contribution made by our immediate past President Kem Martenstyn to take the club forward as she so successfully did in her 3 ½ years in office. Kem – can we say a big thank you from us all for what you have done for the DBU and the membership.

At a ceremony this morning we unveiled the photograph of Kem Martenstyn, immediate Past President from 2005 to 2008. This photograph has now joined the gallery of photographs of all past Presidents which hang alongside the beautiful teak staircase at the front of the building.

Our congratulations go out also to the Entertainment Sub-Committee for their enthusiasm and support in working along with Kem to infuse new life into the DBU. Among others, Anne-Marie, Carol Prins and Mervyn Dirckze are absolute stalwarts in moving forward the social activities which have so successfully drawn back our membership into regular participation.

All the social activity and camaraderie amongst our membership is only possible because the DBU is blessed with ownership of such a magnificent building. Restoration and renovation of this wonderful asset is currently on-going. Much work has already been done and in as much as I am certain fellow members that you would have observed the amazing change that has taken place, there are a few people who must specially be thanked for their contribution:

Firstly - Your Excellency, we are indeed grateful to the Netherlands Embassy for coming to our assistance with a financial contribution towards the cost of these renovations. It was this initial contribution that helped us to get started on our continuing work for the renovation of this wonderful building. Thank you very much.

Such an undertaking and attention to detail, can only be the result of a labour of absolute love and determination to bring back some of the former glory to this architectural masterpiece. For this, fellow members, I must ask you to join me in saying a very big thank you to both Dallas Martenstyn and Stephen LaBrooy. Initially, Stephen started off the renovation work in the area of the rear downstairs verandah. Thereafter, Dallas did a huge amount of work on the building during the previous two Committee years and indeed revealed the marvellous original ceilings that you now see. Thank you Dallas for all your hard work. Thank you Dallas for also enhancing the catering facilities available to our members, by your efforts and those of the Catering Committee”.

Fortunately, Dallas’ passion for the renovation of our building is more than shared by Stephen. In the current Committee year, Stephen has continued this undertaking. Stephen’s daily attendance at the DBU in supervising this work is probably better than the attendance at work of many of the DBU staff (no disrespect meant to our great staff team)! Stephen – you have done a great job in continuing this labour of love. To both Dallas and Stephen must go our thanks for giving us today the opportunity to celebrate our 100 Years in our very own special home – the DBU.

Our DBU building is quite magnificent and for those members who have not seen the building recently, particularly the upstairs, I would strongly recommend that you do take a walk around the ‘Grand Old Lady’.

To the entire General Committee, go my heartfelt thanks for their constant support and contribution in keeping the wheels of the DBU turning, not just for the benefit of our membership but also in their respective roles in taking forward the many initiatives of the DBU, whether it be in terms of Carol Prins ensuring a well stocked Bar or Kem, Anthea, Mervyn Dirckze, David Martenstyn and others on the Committee, for the extensive Welfare and Social Work, student support and the running of the St. Nickolaas’ Home for Elders, undertaken with the support of members of the relevant sub-committees. Please ladies and gentlemen could I ask you to give all members of the General Committee and our various Sub-Committee Members, a big hand for their wonderful work and contribution in building and strengthening the Dutch Burgher Union for the future.

Thank you Anne-Marie, our energetic Honorary Secretary, for all your support to me as President and for your constant interest and involvement in the DBU, the excellent Bulletin that regularly goes out to our membership, both in Sri Lanka and overseas as well as your active participation in every social event. You do a great job.

At this point, I would like to acknowledge the many friends of the DBU in Australia who generously contribute both individually and through different organisations to the welfare and social work as well as the student support activities undertaken by the DBU, in addition to assisting us with regular contributions towards the cost of the running of the St. Nikolaas’ Home. The many congratulatory messages that we have received at this time from so many such friends from overseas are acknowledged with appreciation. Indeed, we also have a message from David de Vos from Australia, great grandson of our Founder Mr. R G Anthonisz, to congratulate the DBU on reaching this milestone and wishing the DBU every success for another 100 years and longer.

To Mike Anthonisz, our Honorary Treasurer, we must additionally say “thank you Mike” for his virtual single handed organization of the recent “Exhibition and Sale of Paintings”, the sale proceeds of which were generously donated by our Honorary Life member Christine Wilson for the benefit of the St Nikolaas’ Home. Where the financial management of our affairs are concerned, Timothy Speldewinde has always been a tower of great strength. Timothy, Mike and I very much appreciate your valued and solid guidance at all times. A big thank you from us all in the Committee for your active participation and absolute passion for the DBU.

In referring yet again to today's event I can hardly say a big enough thank you to my fellow members on the General Committee for their constant support and contribution in bringing about this very special event. If I may single out one person, I know that my fellow Members in the General Committee will concur with me that David Colin-Thome warrants special mention. David has worked tirelessly over the past weeks. Nothing was ever too much to ask of David and I can only say David – I have the highest appreciation not just for all the support so spontaneously extended to me but for your absolute passion and commitment to the DBU. David – thank you again for all the hard work, the different tasks undertaken by you to such perfection and which included working with the Philatelic Bureau to design the First Day Cover and Stamp, the invitations that went out to members, the Centenary Souvenir amongst a whole host of other undertakings, just too numerous to mention.

The DBU would not be what it is today without our Staff. Please ladies and gentlemen join us in saying thank you to Mohan, Etienne and the rest of the team who keep the show on the road.

There are many others who must be thanked, including particularly our numerous advertisers in the souvenir and our generous donors. Also the musical line up providing entertainment for us this evening, photographer Wasantha, the sound people and everybody else who has played a role in bringing this event together.

From me and the rest of the General Committee – Thank you Nimalka, Savithri, Harpo, Dharshini, Jonathan and Lalindra for your professionalism and commitment to ensure a job well done.

Finally, thank you fellow members of the Dutch Burgher Union for being present here this evening to celebrate our centenary. Thank you again your Excellency for so kindly honouring us with your presence here this evening together with your husband Scott.

Please everybody enjoy the celebration.

Mail Room

The President and Committee, Mr. Nigel Austin, Mrs. Kem Martenstyn and others, Thank you for inviting me to the centenary celebrations, however I must decline as much as I would have liked to attend due to the obvious distance involved from where I live. May the Union flourish another 100 years as intended by the founding fathers and the great people who presided over its journey thus far.

The DBU has been a jewel in the communities heritage and an example for others to follow so, I urge the present generation, the caretakers of this bold enterprise, for our common good to continue striving hard to keep it functioning in very difficult times, as "to try and fail is yet to learn, but to fail to try is to suffer the loss of what might have been." May God bless all the good people connected with the DBU and especially those who are able to share in its social and welfare programmes.

Have a happy Founder's Day.

President and members of the DBU-Ceylon, There were many of us who at one stage thought that the Union would not survive to see its 75th year...today - 100 years! Congratulations to all and the Lord's blessings for many more years to come. Dr. Spittel – great man that he was, did not build the St. Nikolas's home. He donated initially 40 percent of the land, and subsequently, if my recollection is right, a further 20.

The idea of a home for the old folk was first brought forward in the late 30s by Dr. E.W. Arndt, a committee member who immigrated to Australia in 1939. The money for the building was collected over the year through the time honoured Burgher practices – donations, the sale of jams, chutneys and sweets and the holding of fetes.

The building was constructed under the supervision of Mr. W.H. Kenneth de Kretser who was Director of Public Works. In recent years an additional L wing was built in memory of Dilys Ebert Wine which was donated by Mr Percy Ebert.

Hi Anne-Marie,
I understand 2008 marks 100 years of the DBU in Sri Lanka and that in recognition of the outstanding contribution of Richard Gerald Anthonisz who was secretary of the DBU from 1908 to 1915, and president from 1916 till his death in 1930, "Founder's Day" is being celebrated today, 22nd October, the birthday of Richard Anthonisz.

To you, and all four hundred members of the Dutch Burgher Union of Ceylon in Sri Lanka, please accept my best wishes for the celebratory events planned to mark "Founder's Day".

Dear Anne Marie,
A few words to say well done for such a great job of putting together a wonderful event for the 100th Anniversary. Please convey my sentiments to the president and his committee.

Russell Kerkoven

To all the members of the Dutch Burgher Union,

October is a big month for the DBU, and the 22nd of that month is the birthday of my great grandfather Richard Gerald Anthonisz.

My wife and I had hoped to be in Colombo for the centenary celebrations, but that is not to be.

We would like to congratulate the DBU for surviving these past 100 years, and we hope you continue for another hundred at least – during which time we will surely come back to Colombo to admire the completed restorations.

Enjoy the party. We wish we could be there.

David de Vos, Perth

Dear Nigel,
I wish to express my sincere sentiments to you, your committee, and the entire staff, on the very professional and cordial arrangements made for the centenary celebrations held under your able leadership which was a great success beyond compare.

Your committee no doubt worked shoulder to shoulder to make the celebrations most memorable to all the members who participated and enjoyed the evening to their hearts content. May your vision and mission in making the DBU to continue with the spirit of camaraderie amongst all members continue in the future.

May I wish you, your committee, and all at the DBU, Good Health, Wealth and Happiness to you and your families.

Best Regards,
Sincerely Yours,
Rosemary Emersley

Burgher Food Fair

As part of its Centenary celebrations, the DBU held a "Sale of Burgher Food" at the DBU Hall on Sunday, 12th October. The sale commenced at 10am but there were people queuing up outside the gates even before that! On sale were typical Burgher delicacies, some of which are hard to come by these days, such as Bolo Fiadho, Foguetti, Breudhers, Love Cake, Jaggery Cake, Milk Toffee, Coconut Milk Fudge, Beef and Fish Patties, Iced Coffee, Home Made Ginger Beer, Lamprais, and a variety of chutneys and pickles along with Roast beef and mustard

Sandwiches and Asparagus and Cheese sandwiches etc. Large crowds descended upon us no sooner the gates opened, and everything was sold out in next to no time, so much so that several people who turned up were disappointed and kept requesting that we have another one soon! The traditional DBU Christmas Fair will once again feature all the above delicacies, giving everyone another chance to sample our famous Burgher Food.

Christmas Sale

Tables will be available on a first come first served basis to those who wish to book a table to sell items at our Traditional Christmas Sale. Make your bookings with the DBU office from the 15th November. Items accepted for sale are Christmas décor, food, new garments, accessories, etc. The Entertainment Committee reserves the right to select the items being put up for sale. There will be a charge of Rs 1,500 per table for non-members and Rs 1,000 for members. This will help offset the costs of advertising and other overheads.

The Entertainment Committee is busy planning out an exciting Christmas season for you! Look out for the following and mark these dates in your Christmas Calendar:

7th December – Traditional Christmas Sale
(Burgher food, Christmas décor, clothes, accessories etc.)

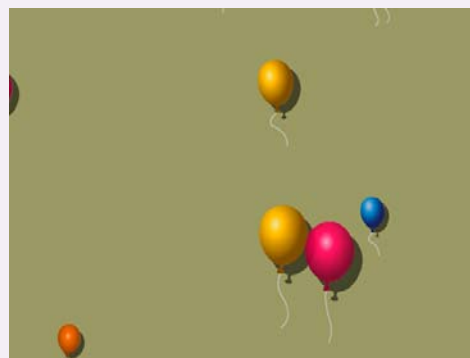

21st December – “The Sunday before Christmas”- a magical night of carols with a professional choir and string orchestra in attendance. Out on the lovely DBU lawn, under the stars! There will be Food stalls selling a variety of food.

Watch out for the details in the next Bulletin.

Also in the pipeline is a Friday night evening of jazz and Christmas Cheer to go with it, as well as a New Year's Eve party like the great one we had last year. These are still on the 'drawing board' and you will have details in December's bulletin.

Youth Membership

This is your last chance to make use of the fantastic opportunity to bring in all young Burghers as Members of the Union, for the next two months. Until 31st December, young Burghers under the age of 30 will be entitled to enroll as members of the DBU without having to pay the Admission Fee! Tell everyone you know, and don't forget to grab an application/s for your own family members who are in this age group. You owe it to your Union, to help it grow and sustain itself in the years to come with new young blood to take over the reins in the next hundred years!

Important Announcement

Please note that the original members entrance to the upstairs bar area has been refurbished and we encourage all members and their guests to use this entrance. The path to the entrance (on the CBA side of the building) has also been paved for convenient access.
